

2025 Arts in California Parks - Implementation Grant

Parks California

About Arts in California Parks

We're excited to introduce you to Arts in California Parks, a program from California State Parks in partnership with Parks California and the California Arts Council. This program brings together talented artists, wise culture bearers, California Native American tribes, and our diverse communities.

Together, we're creating art that celebrates our past, reflects our present, and dreams up our future. Imagine beautiful installations and engaging programs in our State and local parks, all designed to spark meaningful connections, boost community well-being, and inspire a healthier, happier California.

We're working hand-in-hand with some amazing initiatives that are all about making nature accessible and enjoyable for all Californians:

- The Outdoor Access for All initiative, championed by Governor Gavin Newsom and First Partner Jennifer Siebel Newsom
- The Natural Resources Agency's Outdoors for All initiative
- California State Parks' Outdoors for All Initiative
- California State Parks' thoughtful Reexamining Our Past initiative

The goals of this program are to:

- Welcome: Our parks are open to everyone! We're creating projects that reflect and embrace California's amazing diversity.
- Empower: We're paving the way for exciting creative careers through mentorship and job opportunities.
- Heal: Experience the healing potential of arts and nature! We're tapping into their power to boost your well-being and bring communities together.
- Connect: Dive into unforgettable experiences that link you to our beautiful parks, blend culture with nature, and weave our communities closer.
- Inspire: Get ready to unleash your creativity! We're celebrating California's rich heritage and honoring the cultural significance of our parklands.

In 2024, we launched the Arts in California Parks Grants Program with a $2.8 million investment to support 31 grant recipients across California. These innovative projects are bringing art and culture programming to local parks, and transforming them into vibrant hubs that blend art, culture, and nature together.

Within this program, Parks California is managing and administering the competitive Arts in California Parks Grants Program, which includes two tracks: Planning + Development and Implementation Grants.

Implementation Grants support established partnerships in executing artistic or cultural projects within local parks. These grants emphasize strong community collaborations with public park entities, specifically funding the project's implementation phase.

These grants aim to:

- Reflect and better connect the public with the cultural heritage of the region.
- Increase investments for arts and cultural experiences in often overlooked communities.
- Drive authentic community engagement and thoughtful art program design.
- Support a diverse set of art mediums to enhance parks experiences for all visitors.
- Connect communities through shared art and cultural experiences in the Arts in California Parks programs.

For the 2025 Implementation Grants, proposals must focus on arts projects and/or cultural programs that are fully developed and ready for implementation. Proposals must meet the following minimum qualifications:

- Applications must be submitted by a 501c3 non-profit organization, fiscally sponsored community organization, California Native American tribe, Native 7871 organization, foundation, land trust and/or local government agency (city, county, regional*). Regional agencies refer to government entities operating across multiple jurisdictions, such as regional park districts, regional planning agencies, or multi-county collaborations.*
- Projects must facilitate a partnership between nonprofit(s) and local public park manager(s). Partnerships may include 501c3 non-profit organizations, fiscally sponsored community organizations, California Native American tribes, Native 7871 organizations, foundations, land trusts and/or local governments.
- Projects must contribute to community health, well-being, social cohesion, and/or place-making, fostering sustainable connections between people and local parks.
- Eligible projects must be free and open to the public.

Proposals must meet most of the following criteria to be considered:

- Demonstrates alignment with the Arts in California Parks program goals.
- Integrate inclusive community engagement strategies in the development of art and culture programming to enhance cultural and social relevance.
- Support artists career development, equitable compensation, mentorship, and/or strengthens the regional creative economy.
- Contribute to community health, well-being, social cohesion, and place-making, fostering sustainable connections between people and parks.
- Ensure projects are inclusive and accessible, with focus on economic and physical access for diverse populations.

Preference will be given to proposals that meet multiple criteria listed below:

- Offer participants meaningful and relevant experiences that can be enjoyed more than once.
- Supports artist development of sustainability within their practices, encourages actions to control and offset the harmful impacts of material use or fabrication methods.
- Project takes place in a desired region.
- Projects with matching funds (financial or in-kind).

The 2025 grant term is from October 2025 – September 2026, with a total anticipated award amount of $2.6 million. Applicants should anticipate awards ranging from $15,000 to $50,000 for Planning & Development Grants and $15,000 to $150,000 for Implementation Grants. However, applicants are encouraged to request an amount that aligns with the scope and scale of their proposed project.

Funds for this grant track are intended to cover the fulfillment of the proposal’s goals and expenses. These expenses may include, but are not limited to staff time, community engagement activities, artist fees, materials, labor, installation costs, event costs, and permits.

Letter of Intent (LOI) Application

The 2025 grant application process has been streamlined for efficiency. All LOIs will be reviewed, scored, and ranked by a Proposal Review Committee to determine which projects move forward. To ensure statewide representation, proposals will be ranked within their respective regions, with a minimum of two projects funded per region.

To support underrepresented regions, including the North Coast, Sacramento Valley, Sierra Nevada, Central Coast, Central Valley, Inland Desert, and Native lands, these areas will receive focused outreach and support. Final funding decisions will be based solely on Full Application scores to ensure an equitable selection process.

Letter of Intent applications are due by Wednesday, March 19, 2025, at 5 p.m. For helpful tools and frequently asked questions about Arts in California Parks, please visit our Grants Program Resource Hub.
